Saudi French Business Council's

MEMBERSHIP DIRECTORY 2026

ABOUT THE CAFS

The Saudi French Business Council (CAFS) was established in 2003 as one of the first business councils registered by Royal Decree under the Saudi Council of Chambers of Commerce. In 2023, it became the first Saudi business council authorized to open its membership to foreign companies.

It is the place where French and Saudi business meet.

As a non-profit organization depending on its members and activities for financing, the CAFS is a dynamic economic platform representing both Saudi and French business communities in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

With 320+ members, including leading Saudi corporations and French enterprises, the CAFS brings together companies wishing to expand their operations in Saudi Arabia and France, fostering sustainable partnerships and accelerating bilateral trade relations in alignment with the Saudi Vision 2030.

The CAFS' objectives are to:

- Support its members through services including matchmaking with qualified partners, market intelligence, and access to its business network.
- Develop and strengthen relations between Saudi and French business communities through networking events, conferences, and forums.
- Foster trade and investment through business delegations, B2B meetings, participation in trade shows, and facilitation of commercial exchanges between the two countries.
- Communicate with authorities of both countries, in collaboration with the Team France, to improve cooperation, eliminate obstacles, and promote members' interests.
- Encourage economic projects in both countries by providing market information, and connecting investors with high-potential opportunities.
- Facilitate amicable resolution of any commercial disputes between entities from the two countries, preserving long-term partnerships.
- Focus on innovation and capability building through training programs, technology transfer, and access to international exchange.

LEADERSHIP

Dr. Mohamed Ben Laden
